

ABSTRACT

A bio-reactor for cultivating cells, preferably mammalian cells, within a porous support matrix material, the bio-reactor having an inner vessel disposed within an outer vessel, and a matrix carrier containing a support matrix disposed within the inner vessel. The support matrix is provided with a supply of cultivation medium through an inlet and an outlet boring of the matrix carrier.